

*Today, thanks to early detection, more
women are surviving
breast cancer than ever before.*

*Isn't that worthy
of a celebration?*

*What are you doing
to celebrate?*

Yes, but until all women have the opportunity to be screened regularly, we still have work to do.

Help us get there...

make a gift to the Anne C. Pappas Center today.

The Anne C. Pappas Center for Breast Imaging at Rhode Island Hospital is a full-service breast imaging facility staffed by radiologists with special expertise in breast imaging and is designed to provide state-of-the-art breast imaging and intervention.

All breast imaging at Rhode Island Hospital is performed by board-certified radiologists with subspecialty training in this area. In fact, our facility was the first Breast Imaging Center of Excellence in the state, as designated by the American College of Radiology.
